

RXforPrint can now Email it's information directly from within your customers site to you.

This allows you to monitor your customers activity on a Daily, Weekly or Monthly basis.

And gives you the information you need in order to better control your customers and improve how they do things in their print environment.

